To whom it may concern,
I want to express my support for Satellite radio. I purchased a satellite radio for my family last year. Our satellite radio is our sole source of news, information, music, and entertainment. As a family, we made the decision not to have Cable TV or internet in our home. Since we live in a rural area, we purchased a satellite radio so that we could have a variety of news and entertainment options.

We have been very pleased with our radio and the options available through XM. The service has been great and we would recommend it to anyone who loves music or enjoys radio.

Television has become increasingly over run with shows that are not family friendly. As a parent, I don't want my daughters to be bombarded with sexualized images and media content. The satellite radio allows us to be more selective in what we bring into our home.

I strongly urge the FCC to support the efforts of satellite radio to bring quality news and entertainment to many who would otherwise have no other options.

Sincerely,

Paul Knoch
